INTRODUCTION

1. What changes are you making?

We are making changes to the investment policies of certain Funds to increase their ability to invest in companies that are involved in conventional weapons. The Funds are currently not permitted to invest in shares or bonds issued by companies that derive more that 10% of their revenue through involvement in conventional weapons.

2. What are conventional weapons?

Conventional weapons, encompassing military and civilian firearms, typically do not have the potential to cause excessive or indiscriminate harm.

3. Why are you making these changes?

Against a backdrop of geopolitical instability, governments worldwide have increased (or committed to increase) their defence spending. For example, NATO's members have recently agreed to spend 5% of their Gross Domestic Product ("GDP") on defence and security by 2035. As such, the Investment Manager believes there is a strong case for investment in companies involved in the defence industry.

By removing the exclusions relating to conventional weapons, it will become possible for the Funds to expand their exposure to companies in the defence industry in the future. These companies play a vital role in national security and thereby help to safeguard economic and social security; a growing defence industry will contribute to economic growth, create employment for many and potentially drive technological innovation.

However, please note that the Investment Manager will continue to exclude companies involved in controversial weapons (e.g. landmines and biochemical weapons), in accordance with our controversial weapons policy. These weapons are banned under international conventions and protocols. Further information on our controversial weapons policy is available at www.columbiathreadneedle.com/controversialweapons.

All other features of the Funds will remain unchanged.

4. Which funds are affected by these changes?

The changes will apply to the following funds managed by Threadneedle Investment Services Funds (TISL) which are subfunds of the Columbia Threadneedle Investment Funds (UK) ICVC and Columbia Threadneedle Specialist Funds (UK) ICVC.

5. Why are you making these changes?

These weapons are banned under international conventions and protocols. Further information on our controversial weapons policy is available at www.columbiathreadneedle.com/controversialweapons.

All other features of the Funds will remain unchanged.

6. When do the changes take effect?

The changes will take effect from 1 November 2025.

7. How will this affect my investment? Will there be any changes to how the Funds are managed?

Investors should note that we do not expect these changes to significantly impact the way in which the Funds are currently managed or their risk profiles.

The Funds will continue to be managed in line with their sustainability approach which includes investing at least 50% of the Fund in companies promoting environmental and / or social characteristics, and avoiding (subject to specified revenue thresholds) companies involved in certain industries / activities like thermal coal extraction, and that we determine to be in breach of international standards and principles, as described more fully in the Funds' prospectus.

8. Will the Funds be able to invest in controversial weapons?

No, the Investment Manager will continue to exclude companies involved in controversial weapons (e.g. landmines and biochemical weapons), in accordance with our controversial weapons policy. These weapons are banned under international conventions and protocols. Further information on our controversial weapons policy is available at www.columbiathreadneedle.com/controversialweapons.

9. Do I need to take any action?

No, you do not need to take any action as a result of these changes.

10. Will there be an impact on the fees I pay?

There will be no changes to the fees you pay as a result of the changes. Columbia Threadneedle Investments will cover all administrative costs related to these changes.

11. Will you making the same changes to other Columbia Threadneedle funds?

Yes. The investment policies of 20 Columbia Threadneedle (Lux) I SICAV funds were amended, removing the restriction on investment in companies involved in conventional weapons, from 13 August 2025. These funds are categorised as Article 8 under Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation ("SFDR"). SFDR is a key piece of the EU's sustainable finance framework.

We are also making the same changes to the TPEN Global Select Fund from 1 November 2025.

We are not making these changes to our Responsible and Sustainable Investment Funds. They will retain their current exclusions.
